

Adriana Bosch

Bosch & Company

Adriana Bosch is currently an independent producer working on a documentary on Yellow Fever for PBS's history series American Experience. For twenty years she worked at WGBH, Boston. Her latest production was Fidel Castro, a two hour American Experience documentary which aired January 2005. She was producer, writer and director of Jimmy Carter, a three-hour documentary biography for American Experience. She produced, wrote, and directed Ulysses S. Grant, Part I, "Warrior, and part II of The Rockefellers, both for American Experience. She was series editor and producer/writer for American Experience's presidential biographies Reagan and Ike. Bosch is the author of Reagan: An American Story, the companion book for the Reagan documentary, published by TV Books. She was series producer for The Churchill's, and producer, director, and writer for the third episode. Bosch earned a prime time Emmy Award for her work on Regan. She also received the Christopher Award for Ike, Part 1, Soldier and Peabody Awards for Reagan and Ike. She was nominated for the Writers Guild Award for her work as producer and writer on Soldier, and Lifeguard, part one of Reagan. Bosch received a BA in political science from Rutgers University and holds a PhD in International Affairs from the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts University. She was born in Cuba.